

XM Radio offers the informed consumer an alternative to the corporate directed service available on the commercial bands. It is my right as an American citizen to choose the service that fits my personal needs. While my needs may not reflect those of every other citizen, by being an American, I have the same right to choose as those who choose not to purchase the service.